We're committed to keeping you updated on information regarding the coronavirus (COVID-19) and its impact in the United States. You should know that your union is already sending letters to Congress, OPM, and agency heads demanding they work with AFGE at the national, council and local levels to ensure front-line employees are safe.

You deserve to have the appropriate resources, equipment, training and protocols readily available at work. Agencies have the obligation to ensure the health and safety of working people.

To assist our members, AFGE has created a coronavirus resource website at www.afge.org/Coronavirus, which includes:

- Bargaining guidance for AFGE leaders around coronavirus
- Guidance from OPM & DOL
- Specific information about coronavirus for employees in different sectors from the AFL-CIO
- Information from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
- A link to update your information so you can receive the latest communications about coronavirus from AFGE
- A link to an important survey about how agencies are responding to coronavirus

Please visit afge.org/coronavirus now to view this important information and do two things:

1. Update your information so you never miss an important update on coronavirus from AFGE

2. Take this survey to help us get an understanding of what is happening at your agency to ensure your health and safety.

Please regularly check www.afge.org/coronavirus for the latest updates.

Note: Information on this site is not intended to substitute for actual medical care or professional medical advice. If you believe you are, or may be, ill, contact your primary care health provider immediately. Information on this website may change as the situation/recommendations/resources evolve. Please check back frequently.

Sincerely,

Everett Kelley

AFGE National President
